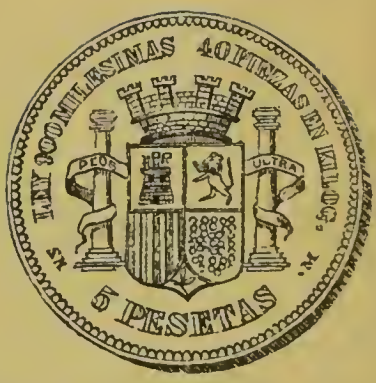
MY Collecting FRIENDS



Are entitled to my earnest thanks for the kind favors received during the past season, and I take this opportunity of saying to them, one and all, that I thoroughly appreciate the numerous testimonials of regard which have made pleasant my many years in business, and have had no small share in prompting me to continue in a calling which I find congenial and fascinating.

It has always been and will continue to be my ambition to earn the good will and friendship of my patrons; to obtain new customers and retain them by a close and conscientious attention to their orders; to hold my old customers by endeavoring to keep constantly on hand an extensive assortment of all goods and thus give their numerous wants that careful and scrupulous regard which has been the means of keeping their patronage in the past.

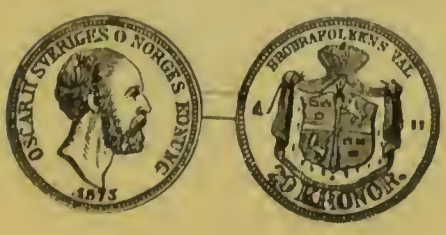
While, during my more than ten years in active business, each succeeding year has shown a substantial improvement on the preceding one, still, I am pleased to state that the past season has in this regard far surpassed my most sanguine expectations.

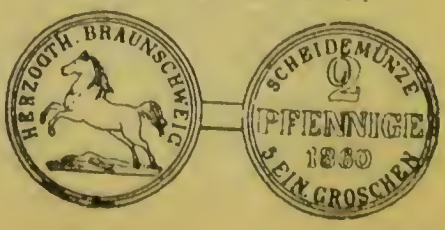
An increase of 50 per cent. over last year's business clearly demonstrates that collectors are not slow in appreciating that honest desire to please which should be the characteristic of every dealer.

Again thanking you for past favors and trusting that in the years to come our relations may be no less pleasant than they have been in the years that are gone. I am,

Yours with pleasure,

W. F. GREANY.





NOTE.—Parties who have coins for sale are referred to my list of buying prices elsewhere in this catalogue.

IMPORTANT!

PLEASE READ CAREFULLY

If there is any one custom more than another to which I feel I owe the retention of the good will and continued patronage of those who have dealt with me in the past, it is that of cheerfully refunding money or sending other goods whenever articles ordered are not satisfactory. The good will of old customers brings the trade of new ones. I will esteem it a personal favor on the part of all purchasers, if they will return goods that do not come up to their expectations, and I will immediately forward new selections or refund money, paying postage charges both ways.

HOW TO REMIT.

All money may be sent at my risk and expense if forwarded by any of the four following methods, provided the order amounts to $1.00 or over, when the cost may be deducted from the amount remitted:

1st. Post-office money orders can be obtained from any large post-office, are perfectly safe, and will cost but a trifle.

2d. A draft on New York can be obtained of any bank, and is sure to come safely.

3d. Express money orders can be obtained at any office of the American, United States, or Wells, Fargo & Co. express companies and made payable at San Francisco, Cal.

4th. By registered letter.

Small sums, less than one dollar should be sent by postal note, or by U. S. postage stamps of any denomination. One cent stamps preferred. Parties sending silver or coin in a letter in payment of goods, must do so at their own risk, as it is neither safe nor advisable. Foreign customers can remit by International money orders, made payable at San Francisco, Cal.

HOW TO ORDER.

The supply of many articles priced on the following pages, owing to my very low prices, will soon be exhausted; in order to avoid any delay in filling your orders, always state whether others can be substituted in case those ordered cannot be supplied.

No matter how often you write, always give your name, post-office, county and state plainly and in full.

POSTAGE.—The postage on all goods mentioned in this catalogue will be paid by me, except on orders less than 25c. in which case postage must be paid by purchaser. Small orders for birds' eggs, less than 50 cents, must contain 6c. for packing and postage.

U. S. AND FOREIGN GOLD.

My supply of U. S. and foreign gold coins does not warrant my giving an extensive list comprising the various dates and varieties, but to collectors that send their list of wants, I will willingly make quotations for those I may have in stock.

NUMISMATIC PUBLICATIONS.

Purchasing as I do many coin collections, I have on hand from time to time coin publications of all kinds, the majority of which are out of print. Of these I would be pleased to send prices and description to parties desiring to purchase.

Of the following works I have a sufficient supply to meet all reasonable demand:

Coinage of the world, cloth	$2 50
J. A. Bolen's list of medals, cloth	75

CONFEDERATE CURRENCY.

During the past two years I have purchased extensively of Confederate Notes and Bonds, and have now on hand a stock unsurpassed by any, and equalled by few dealers in the United States.

ARCHÆLOGY

To the antiquarian, there are few subjects that present such opportunities for research as the study of the early American races, from the stone implements to be found scattered throughout the length and breadth of the United States, and which are eloquent testimonials of the intelligence of the aborigines of this continent.

The handiwork displayed in the beautifully serrated arrow and spear points, the queer ornaments and fantastically shaped pipes, speaks volumes for the ingenuity of these early residents of the forest, particularly when we consider the rude implements with which they were fashioned from the rough stone.

The impetus given to the study of these relics by the organization of Archæological Societies and the publication of Archæological magazines, has resulted in the formation of thousands of collections, and has greatly increased the demand for the best and rarest specimens. This increased demand is my only apology for the space and attention given to Indian relics in this edition of my Catalogue. The tyro and the connoisseur will find my assortment quite extensive and my prices as reasonable as the condition and scarcity of the specimens will admit. I deliver free of charge all goods mentioned herein, either by post or by express, as will be expedient. This fact is stated for the benefit of those collectors who have purchased from dealers at what they deemed very cheap prices, but have found themselves cinched by having to pay exorbitant charges to conscienceless express companies when the goods arrived at their destination. In examining quotations my patrons will please bear this in mind, as expressage is quite an item on bulky and weighty articles.

VARIOUS FORMS OF INDIAN RELICS.

You will observe by the accompanying illustration the different varieties of flints. They are numbered to correspond with descriptions.

No. 1 is a very fine drill, used for perforating leather, rocks, etc., and will readily sell for $2.00. I can furnish others for 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50.

No. 2 is a triangular war point, and it is presumed that when a person was shot, he would endeavor to remove the shaft, to which the point would only be lightly attached, when the shaft was removed it left the point in, which would soon cause death in the victim. Price, 20c.

No. 3 is a broad and deep notched arrow head, very fine, and not found in large quantities. Price, 30 to 50c.

No. 4 is a deep notched rotary arrow point. It is so made that when shot, it revolves in its flight. Price, 40c. to $1.50.

No. 5 is one of the common Indian arrow points, as found all over the country. Price, 15c. each; per dozen, fine, $1.00; fair, 60c.

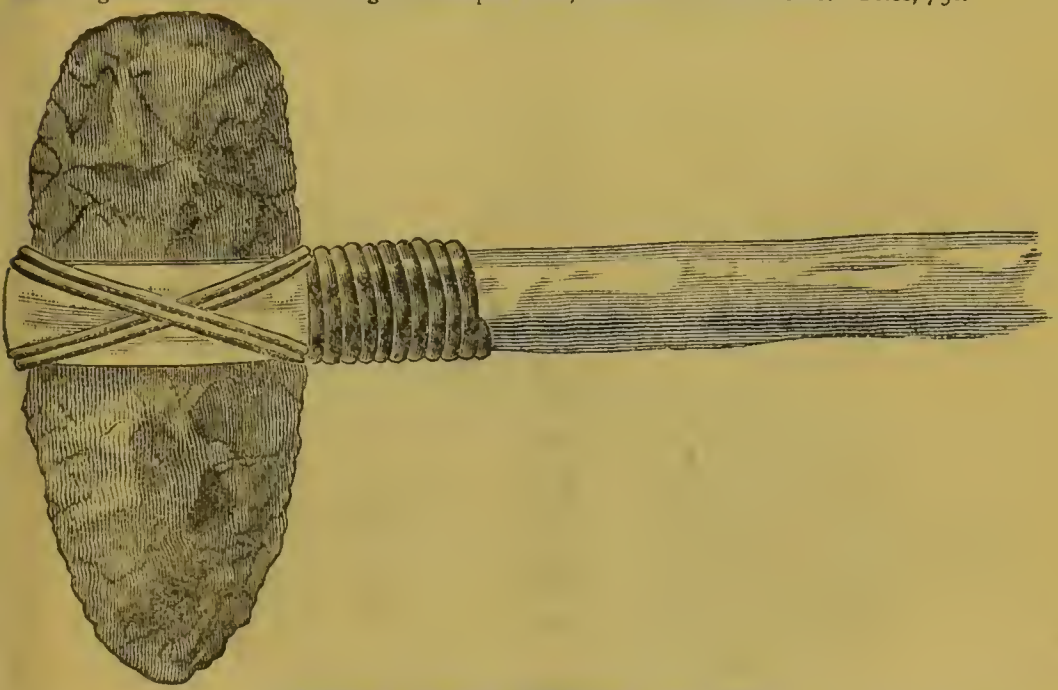
No. 6 is a fine notched scraper. Scrapers are not usually notched, and the notched scrapers are rare and worth 40 to 50c. Unnotched 30c.

No. 7 is a very rare point. It is different from other arrow points, by having a long drilled-shaped point. They are seldom met with. Price, $1,50.

No. 8 is one of the top-notched implements, which sell for 25 to 50c.

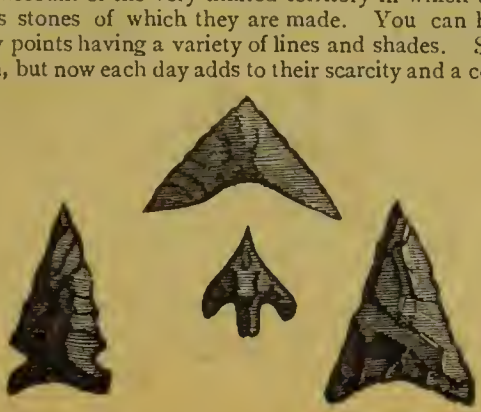
No. 9 is a serrated point. It will be observed that the edges have points, and they are also slightly rotary, and when shot, must produce a painful, tearing wound. Price 35c. to $1.00.

Short, thick flints were used to shoot very small game. I can supply them at 10 to 20c. I can furnish spear heads in nearly all the shapes described in relation to arrow points, from 50c. to $2.50. Below I give an illustration of a large leaf-shaped head, mounted on a war club. Price, 75c.



OREGON BIRD ARROW POINTS.

I have a beautiful variety of these points. They form one of the most interesting lines of relic collecting, on account of the very limited territory in which they are found, and also on account of the semi-precious stones of which they are made. You can have them in nearly all the colors of the rainbow, many points having a variety of lines and shades. Some years ago these points were comparatively common, but now each day adds to their scarcity and a consequent increase in price.



Seconds, perfect points, each 15c.; per dozen, $1.50.
Firsts, each 25c.; per dozen, $2.50.
Selects, finely formed beauties, $3.75 per dozen.
Unique specimens from 50c. to $1.00 each.
I have a few points from Oregon in dull colors at 10c. each.
The above points, neatly mounted on gold scarf pin and bound with gold wire for $3.00. They also make handsome earrings. A pair well matched and mounted on gold screws, $7.00.

SCRAPERS.

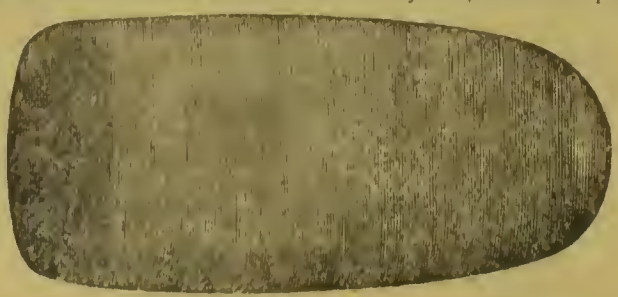
Scrapers are implements or tools no doubt used in the manufacture of Slate and Stone Pipes and Ornamental Pieces, etc., etc. No. 1 is the most common form not intended to be used with a handle. The middle piece is a side view of No. 1. The No. 2 Scraper is much scarcer, and was intended for mounting in a hollow bone or stag horn handle.

There is another form much scarcer than the above, which resembles No. 2, but has a notched butt, and more extended front; such were fastened to handles with strings of sinew. I send post paid at the following prices:

No. 1, each....15 to 25 cents No. 2, each....25, 50 to 75 cents.

I have many flint knives, and can furnish a great variety. Price, 50c. to $2.00.

The illustration above is that of a grooved axe, the groove being entirely around the axe. Specimens like above are rare, and are worth, for very fine pieces, $3.00. Very good to fair specimens from $1.00 to $2.50. The illustration above is reduced in size. Axes with groove partially around are common, and of them I have an extensive variety for $1.00 and upwards.



Price, 75 cts.

CELTS

Present a large variety of sizes and forms. They have a well defined cutting edge, and were used for making canoes, skinning deers, and for other purposes around the Indian wigwam. Price, for fair specimens, 35c., 50c. Larger, 50 to 75c. Unusually large, 75c. to $1.00.

ORNAMENTS

Present such a variety of shape and manufacture, that an illustration can not well be given. Nearly all ornaments are made of slate. I have a large variety, many with perforations. Descriptions and drawings will be sent to correspondents who are known to be interested in relics. Ornaments are scarce, and find quick sale at $1.50 to $3.00 each.

Price $1.00.

The above cut represents a hammer stone. They are often depressed on both sides by constant hammering. Fair specimens, 75 cents.

HEMATITE IMPLEMENTS.

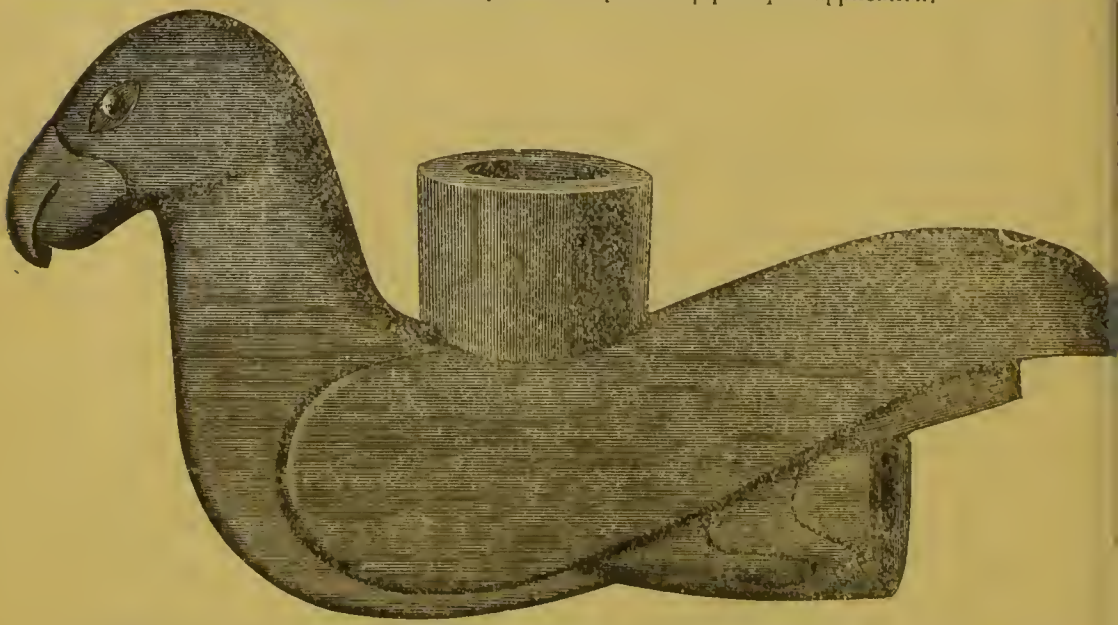
Hematites are implements made of iron ore. The Indian found that they were much better than stone implements, by reason of their hardness and their edges being sharper. They include celts, heads to war clubs, &c. I have a limited number at prices running from 50 cents to $2.00.

PESTLES, $2.00

I have many pestles of all kinds in price from 50 cents to 3.00, according to size and condition. Pestles were used to grind corn. I also have a few mortars, prices of which will be given on application.

PIPES, POTTERY.

I have a variety of pipes, some of beautiful workmanship, prices ranging from $5.00 to $20.00. Advanced collectors will be sent full descriptions and price of pipes upon application.



Pottery is very rare and very valuable. There are very few collectors who have any to offer. Can furnish perfect bottles or urns at about $10.00 each.

Oval stones from old ruins held inside pottery while in process of manufacture, $1.25.

While most collectors will not be able to secure perfect specimens of pottery on account of their rarity and high price, they can at least all secure fragments which will give a good idea of their structure and composition. I can supply good sized fragments neatly mounted on card board, at the following prices:

Two fragments sacred pottery from mounds 25
Two fragments painted, pre-historic 30
Two fragments ancient vermillion ware 20
Two fragments genuine Pimo Arizona pottery 20

These fragments are fine large specimens, each from 1½ to 2 inches in diameter, and are guaranteed to please the purchaser.

Net Sinkers in variety from 30 to 50 cents each.

MY STOCK.

It is customary for many dealers when extolling the virtues of their stock to proclaim with a disregard for veracity only excelled by Ananias, that they possess "the finest, richest and most stupendous accumulation" of this; "unquestionably the finest and most gigantic assortment" of that, and "barring none—the finest and the very best assortment" of the other to be found in the United States, the continent or the world. Now I do not pride myself on having much more modesty than the ordinary coin, stamp or curio dealer, and while I do not claim to be possessed of the best stock in each and every line mentioned in this catalogue, still I do assert that in most I have as complete an assortment as is to be found anywhere and in many lines my stock is unequalled for rarity and variety, more particularly in California Locals and State Revenues of which I claim to have the best stock in the world.

During the past season I have purchased the extensive stocks of C. W. Fisher and F. L. Fischer for many years engaged in business in California, also the stock of the late lamented C. L. Stake of Dayton, Ohio. The entire coin collection of the celebrated philatelist Lieut. J. M. T. Partello has found its way into my stock, besides many other private collections of coins and stamps.

My purchases in Confederate Currency alone represent over half a million dollars in face value; and the latest acquisition was the purchase of 15,000 coins.

FUTURE EDITIONS.

Parties desiring to receive gratis future editions of my catalogue or any supplemental lists, must favor me with an order from the present edition, no matter how small that order may be. It would be a waste of time and money to distribute gratuitously catalogues among those who never have had or who have lost their interest in collecting. Paper and printers' ink cost money, and in order that the money may be well spent I have made the above rule as one best calculated to weed from my address book the names of parties who are no longer interested in our hobbies.

ORIENTAL COINS.

It is impossible in this catalogue to describe the great variety of Chinese and Japanese coins which I have continually in stock.

Varying in weight from a few grains to a pound, embracing in form the round, elliptical, rectangular, razor, key, fork and bird shaped, many with a history going back before the Christian era, there is truly in these coins a fund of knowledge for the numismatist.

Our oriental neighbors, not satisfied with possessing the most curiously shaped coins in or out of Christendom, have embellished them with representations of animals whose identification would puzzle the most advanced naturalist.

To parties desiring to purchase I will send prices on application.

Missouri Defense Bonds.

No financial scheme ever had a more infirm basis, nor was so short lived as that which gave forth what are known as the Missouri Defense Bonds.

The act under which they were issued was one of the few passed by what is known as C. F. Jackson's Senate.

Pursuant to a proclamation issued on September 26, 1861, by Claiborne F. Jackson, then Governor of the State of Missouri, the Senate convened at Neosho, Newton county, Missouri, on the 21st day of October, 1861.

The proclamation stated that a state of war existed between Missouri and the Federal Government, and that the purpose of convening the General Assembly was to give the representatives of the people of Missouri an opportunity of determining whether or not they desired to dissolve the constitutional bond which bound them to the Government of the United States.

The session was a short one. Despite the wishes of the Governor and those legislators who desired to see the name of Missouri on the Confederate roll, the strong Union sentiment of the people saved the State to the Union cause.

The act referred to was entitled "An act to provide for the defense of the State of Missouri," and its first section read as follows: "The sum of ten millions of dollars is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury, or which may hereafter be paid into the treasury, for the purpose of repelling invasion and sustaining the State in her efforts to maintain her sovereignity."

Very few of the bonds were put in circulation, and these few had scarcely any value as an investment.

I will furnish these mementoes, while in stock, at the following low figures:

$ 1.00, rural scene, price.	06
3.00, female with cornucopia.	08
4.00, steamboat scene on Mississippi.	06
4.50, group of females, agriculture, commerce.	10
20.00, female with liberty cap,	all sold
50.00, plantation scene	10
100.00, head of Jeff Davis.	15

6 varieties for only 50 cents.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENT.

Every third purchaser of the set of six varieties will be presented, without additional cost, with two Confederate notes.

Old Chili Lottery Tickets.

WITH EMBOSSED ARMS OF CHILI.

Conducted by Henry Meiggs, an American distinguished for his gigantic railroad and other enterprises. His SAVOIR FAIRE enabled him to escape harmless from the many political revolutions which are the distinguishing feature of the small republics. It is related that he made it a point to keep the leading revolutionists employed as officers, etc., on his roads so as to minimise his chances of disaster in the many changes of government.

Price . . . . . 12 cents.

I wish to purchase Confederate Bonds, Notes and Stamps, for which I will pay good prices. Local Stamps on entire envelopes particularly desired.

Always order in excess of remittance, as it is impossible for me, at all times, to have a complete stock.

The Reign of Terror.

Of the many changes of government which have been made by the French people, and no people have been more prolific than they in experiments of that kind, there was none brought on by a revolution which slumbered so long to finally break forth with such great fury as that which at the close of the last century took France from the list of kingdoms, and placed her temporarily among the republics.

The dissatisfaction at the deranged state of finances, and the desire of imitating the American colonies which had just completed their successful struggle for independence, prompted the overthrow of one of the most ancient and powerful monarchies in Europe.

Confusion and anarchy were the order of the day. A dark veil of terror and death covered all France.

Guillotines were erected and did their deadly work in almost every populous city, from the capital to the boundaries, and from 1792 to 1794 blood continued to flow in almost every part of this unhappy country.

One of the measures attempted by the Assemby of the States-general for improving the finances of the new republic, was the issuance of the historical paper money commonly known as "assignats," the value of which as relics will be appreciated by every collector.

I having received, after much negotiation with a Bordeaux antiquary, a valuable assortment of these goods, I can now offer varieties at the prices quoted:

10 sous	15
25 sols	15

SPECIAL INDUCEMENT.

Every fifth purchaser of the set of six varieties will be presented, without additional cost, with two varieties of wild-cat currency.

UNION AND CONFEDERATE ENVELOPES.

These elegant reminders of the late war must be seen to be appreciated.

Many of them are in the brightest colors, and must have been issued by the boys in blue and the boys in gray, when fond hopes and bright prospects stirred them on to deeds of valor.

The various badges of the different army corps, the beautiful seals of the states, and many other designs allowed ample opportunity for the display of artistic skill, while our native American humor has found full scope in many sarcastic pictures on the events of the war.

Approval Sheets.

I make an especial feature of approval sheets and am desirous of obtaining agents in all philatelic centers, to whom I will allow liberal commissions. Cash deposit or first-class reference required in all cases.

Advanced collectors will find it to their advantage to inspect my approval lots, for I am continually purchasing large collections and have many scarce specimens to offer from time to time.

PRICE LIST OF

United StatesPos age,

Department and Envelope STAMPS.

My patrons will notice that I have in the present edition of my catalogue discontinued the usual single list of foreign stamps for the reasons set forth in the introduction to my list of extremely cheap foreign sets.

Those reasons are not as applicable to United States stamps, and moreover the demand for the latter has become so active that to keep pace with the times, and allow my customers an opportunity to make single selections for filling vacancies in their collections, I have deemed it best to give an extensive list of varieties in stock, and have endeavored to place prices as low as the increasing rarity of these stamps will admit.

FOR YOUNG COLLECTORS.

The remarkable sale of my 5-cent packets during the past few years has warranted me in continuing them. Those who are just commencing the pleasant study and agreeable recreation of stamp collecting, and whose purchases are somewhat curtailed by a not too-plethoric purse, will find these packets all that can be desired.

Five Cent Packets.

Each packet contains ten varieties of stamps. The thirteen packets, containing 130 stamps, all different, sent postage free for 50c. Orders under 25c. must contain 2c. stamp for postage.

No. 1—Contains stamps of Austria, Austrian-Italy, Norway, etc.

No. 2—Contains stamps of Brunswick, Canada, Denmark, Mexico, etc.

No. 3—Contains stamps of Ceylon, Egypt, France, Finland, Jamaica, etc.

No. 4—Contains stamps of Barbadoes, Baden, Greece, Wurtemburg, etc.

No. 5—Contains stamps of Belgium, Cuba, Hamburg, New Zealand, New South Wales, etc.

No. 6—Contains stamps of Luxemburg, Portugal, Prussia, Switzerland, etc.

No. 7—Contains stamps of Germany, Italy, Roman States. etc.

No. 8—Contains stamps of Bosnia, Cape of Good Hope, Japan, Sweden, etc.

No. 9—Contains stamps of Brazil, Great Britain, Servia, Trinidad, etc.

No. 10—Contains stamps of Italy (unpaid) Prussia, Sandwich Islands, etc.

No. 11—Contains stamps of Turkey, Tasmania, Victoria, etc.

No. 12—Contains stamps of Peru, Holland, Dutch Indies, etc.

No. 13—Contains U. S. postage and department stamps.

CHEAP SETS.

Experience has tanght me that since approval sheets have become a particular and prominent feature of the foreign stamp business, it is time and money wasted to print an extensive list of single foreign stamps, particularly when such list is ordinarily made up of stamps usually found in the possession of the the veriest tyro in collecting Advanced collectors do their puachasing only after an inspection of the specimens desired, giving little heed to the lists of foreign stamps given by dealers.

Beginners will find my sets and packets very cheap and sufficiently complete to allow them to make as careful selections as they could from single lists.
